

The Stone Age Girl Who Visited Another Land By Gracie

An unusual thing once happened to me, I was about to go hunting with everyone then suddenly I changed my direction. I looked down and I found myself falling further, further, further. When I woke up I found myself standing in front of a humongous, crusty and dusty cave made out of brick instead of flint or rock.

All of a sudden I saw someone, a girl? She was wearing a hoodie that had rainbow hearts on it that said "love" and a violet and rose dotted skirt. She also wore silky smooth black boots and had mousey hair with soft curls and smoothly brushed. Stomp stamp! Stomp stamp! There were noises of feet walking and running on the ground like an earthquake. The girl helped me up and took me to the open space.

We went to a place that had these sticks but they were not wooden, they were made out of a hard, cold and strong material. We went inside and she showed me how to swing on seats hanging from wood using the hard, cold and strong material again. Then, she showed me how to push myself on this thing made out of smooth and strong material and the hard, cold and strong material again. Then, before we left we went on a wall that had colourful stones to climb. Then we left. I had a good time, it was brilliant!

After the lovely morning, we went on more things and other people came. I went on a long, slippery and shiny thing that was made of the hard, cold and strong material again. The girl pushed me down, it was fun and amazing! Then, she took me out of the place and took my hand and then took me back into the open space.

We went to a river with a bridge and we went to look at the fish. Then she taught me how to play a game called pooh sticks! Then she took me to a place that had lots of trees. I could see the leaves in the sunshine. It was beautiful. I could hear squelching from the mud when I stepped in it. I saw a very nice furry pretend and squishy bear that I liked. Then the girl got it out of the tree and said, "here have it". After she gave me the bear, I found myself falling further, further, further again.

When I woke up, I was back at my home then I felt something in my pocket. It was the bear!

One day a thrilling thing happened to me, travelling through the forest... I suddenly turned the wrong way. I slipped and found myself sinking further, further, further.

When I awoke I was near an unusual place, suddenly I saw a boy?! He was strange but he was wearing an azure blue jumper and black trousers. His hair was smart and sleek. Soon sounds surrounded me: Boop, Beep, Bonk. Later the boy took me inside.

I was somewhere I've never seen before. They used strange materials what I've never seen before. We went outside, he showed me lots of things outside he even showed me how to do some tricks on the monkey bars.

Later that day in the afternoon I saw tons of children come out to play. They played all sorts of games, I didn't even know what they were. Later the boy taught me how to throw a round, red ball into a hoop and I felt thankful.

When the bell rang and we all went in to do some work, the boy taught me how to write and draw with my pencil. Next the boy gave me a warm, cosy jumper and I put it in my pocket for later. Soon it was another break, me and the boy played with a ball and I tried to header it but it hit me right in the face. I found myself falling down, down, down.

When I awoke I was back home and I felt something squishy in my pocket so I reached in and my fingers grabbed something so pulled it out of my pocket, it was warm and cosy. A jumper!

One day I was walking slowly near my cave, when a staggering thing happened. I tripped and I fell down, down, down. I saw a strange building.

All of a sudden I saw a boy! He wore a sky blue jumper, black trousers and he had dark brown hair.

He pushed me to a huge open space. Bang! Crash! Push! Balls rolled towards me.

In front of me I saw some giant metal bars so the boy taught me how to swing on them. It was tricky but I did it! I had lots of fun.

Later some other children came out to play. I watched them play with a big, round ball. The boy also taught me how to play. Then we played with a bouncy ball. The boy told me it was a basketball. Next we went to the big building. Inside the building I picked up some scissors and saw nothing that looked like mine. I heard a loud noise and it made me jump. I fell down, down, down.

When I awoke back home, I felt something sharp in my pocket. I reached in and it was some scissors!

Once upon a time, I was involved in a surprising event. I was walking near my village, looking for flint to knap, when I tripped and fell down a bank. Lower, lower, lower. Everything went dark. When I woke up, I was standing in front of an old, strange building.

I then saw the boy. His clothes were not made of deer skin and his hair was short. Nearby, there were boxes on wheels, moving fast and making odd noises. Toot, Tootle, Beep. The boy led me to a window and we looked inside.

The boy said we were looking at the desks in his classroom. Later that day, he took me to the park. What a wonderful time we had! We tried the swings, the slide and the tripwire. Then my new friend said he had somewhere else in the village he wanted to show me.

When we got there, he showed me some metal, railway lines. I have never seen metal before. The boy seemed surprised at this. He said that trains used to go on the track. I have never heard of trains either. Everything seemed so strange. My friend said he wanted to show me a very tall building.

We walked on to a large building called a church. Outside, on the grass, was a small spoon. The boy said it was made of plastic. I put it in my pocket. We went inside and climbed the tall tower. It was high as three mammoths standing on top of one another. At the top I felt dizzy. I fainted. I fell. Down, down, down. When I awoke, I was back at my camp. Reaching into my pocket, my hand felt a strange object. It was a plastic spoon!

An exciting thing once happened to me. I was running to a cave to draw a deer. I went inside and when I turned around I saw a big, scary bear. I took a step back and hit myself against the rock. My head was twirling, twirling, twirling. That made me faint.

I woke up and I was standing in-front of a blue-doored building. I stumbled towards it. Soon, I realised I didn't know where I was.

Really didn't know where I was. Really, totally didn't know where I was. Out of nowhere, I saw an adult coming towards me. The lady wore sandy-coloured clothes and had black, shiny hair. She invited me into a room where lots of children were sitting behind smooth, wooden tables. They started to talk very loudly and shout. I was scared by the amount of noise so I ran away from the class, out of the building, trying to find my way home.

I ran, ran and ran. I ended up in front of two gates of a strange material that was cold to touch. Behind them there was a weird building that looked destroyed. Dong... Dong... Dong... I heard a weird noise. It came from a building that was made of flint. I wandered down a path with houses next to it. I turned right and found myself in a wood. The trees look a little bit familiar but there were lots of strange things sitting on them. They looked like small, cute, furry animals. I chose my favourite one and took it with me.

Roughly an hour later the lady from the building was looking for me to show me a place to calm down. She took me to a nice, green place nearby. She called it a playground. It had lots of different equipment. Firstly we talked and then the lady showed me how to use it. I slid down a slide and sat on a seat and rolled down. I had so much fun. I saw a strange object flying in the sky, it was like a bird flying. I was told it was called an aeroplane. I went on every ride. There was only one thing left to go on. The swing. I sat on the swing and the lady pushed me hard, so I was going higher, higher and higher. But then I lost grip and ended up falling down, down, down.

When I woke up I was in a cave. There was no scary bear anymore. I put my hands into my pocket and found my cute, fluffy teddy bear from the woods.

An incredible thing happened to me one day. I was walking towards a flaming hot fire. All of a sudden I went in a different direction. I found myself falling deeper,deeper,deeper. When I woke up I was standing in front of a massive building.

In a flash I saw a figure,a boy ?! He wore a royal blue jumper,black shorts,and his hair was golden bronze. Chit Chat! Ha Ha! Screams!! Strange noises made me so afraid as they bellowed around me in the air from groups of things around me.

Ahead of me there was an open space and concrete under my feet. I could also see a long net going from one side of the concrete to the other side . The boy gave me a tree shaped piece of wood with netting in it and a small ball ,he showed me how to bounce and hit it on the concrete and to hit it over the long big net with a tree shaped thing the boy said was a racket. What a great time we had !

Further on in the day more children came to join us. We looked at them as they let out screams and were laughing. The boy showed me how to throw a big orange ball through a circle which was attached to a long pole high up. All of a sudden we turned around and walked towards some more things i have not seen before !

Outside on the concrete floor I could see blades of green pointy up spikes coming up from the ground. The boy took me closer so I could have a better look,but all of a sudden I saw an orange round object fly through the air. I shouted to the boy to dodge out the way but I fell and found myself falling lower,lower,lower.

When I woke up I was back in my own surroundings. I felt in my pocket and my fingers clutched around a small round,soft sphere. It was a tennis ball !

An amazing thing happened to me one day. I was climbing a tall cliff, when all of a sudden, I slipped. I found myself tumbling over, over, over. When I woke up, before me there was an enormous stone building.

Suddenly in front of me a person appeared, a boy?! He was wearing unfamiliar clothes. A sky-blue top, dark grey trousers and his hair was short and tidy. Bang! Boom! Clatter! Strange noises coming from the building scared me because I thought it was a large beast. The boy held my hand and he led me away.

There before me I saw a smaller building. The stone looked very different to ours. He led me inside and showed me all the different food and drinks they have. There were so many!

Later that day we went to a big open space with strange wooden structures. There were lots of children who were playing on the structures. All of a sudden, he pulled me towards them.

We climbed the wooden structure. In the middle there was a long, shiny, flat object. It shone like the sun! The boy showed me how to slide down the object. I was excited and rushed forwards. I slipped, and found myself falling over, over, over. When I awoke, I was back home. Reaching into my pocket my fingers grasped a small chocolate bar!

An amazing thing happened to me, I was walking towards the oak trees then I suddenly changed direction. I walked towards it and began to fall lower, lower, lower when I awoke. I was standing in front of a mossy gate.

All of a sudden I saw someone, a girl? She wore a cyan blue hoodie, light grey jeans and her hair was long and smart. Pita,pata om thought 'what is that sound?' I got scared so the girl led me to a safe place.

I couldn't believe my eyes. This safe place was amazing. There were metal, wood, rope and things you could swing on . There was even a dark creaky pointy tent thing . She showed me how to do star jumps and handstands "bend on your hand, let your feet up and balance" that was excellent .

A couple hours later, I stood in front of this grassy area. There were other kids and they were doing something weird. They made a weird thing that you could slide down.

At the field I could see the soggy mud like a wet dog. The girl taught me how to make a hut using sticks, and tar pooling. Smelled so I ran and tripped over a mole hole , I began to fall deeper, deeper, deeper.

I opened my eyes and I was home. I put my hand in my pocket and I picked up a soft long material . A rope!

An unbelievable thing once happened to me, I was wandering towards the glistening river when I suddenly changed direction. I found myself falling, falling, falling. When I awoke I was laying in front of a huge brick building. Children were streaming in and out of the big black gates.

All of a sudden I saw someone, a boy?! He wore a neon blue jumper, smart eerie black trainers and carried a cobalt blue bookbag. Talk! Talk! Talk! The children were talking loudly. He led me to a big open space. "This is the playground," he told me.

In front of me there were big wooden things you could climb on. The boys' materials were nothing like ours! He taught me how to slide down the slide backwards, swing from bar to bar and balance on logs. What an enjoyable time we had together!

Time had passed, many people appeared, we watched some children play football then the boy joined in while I watched. The boy also taught me how to play a game where you had a hoop. All of a sudden, we were lined up with the other children going into the building!

Inside the building I could see the azure blue carpets like oceans beneath my feet. The boy showed me how to draw with a pencil and colour with a pen or crayon. All of a sudden there was a loud ringing noise that made everyone run, I tripped and found myself falling, falling, falling.

When I awoke, I was back home. Reaching into my pocket I felt something pointy. A pencil!

An amazing thing once happened to me. I was walking along a field when I tripped and found myself falling Lower,Lower,Lower. When I woke up I was standing in front of a classroom that had not yet been built.

All of a sudden I saw someone . He was wearing a lemon yellow shirt and some lime green shorts and his hair was azure smart blue.

Vroom,pooof,bang unfamiliar noises made me jump. The ground shook with tumbling objects. The boy took me to an open space.

In front of me there was a classroom that had not yet been built. I ran away from the objects every time they got close. He showed me how to swing on monkey bars and slide down slides. What such fun we had!

Later that evening I watched children playing. They ran and jumped. The boy taught me how to play a game called football. I had to kick it in between 3 posts: the left post, the right post, and the crossbar post. Suddenly we were off and went to an old school.

Inside the old school I could see old chairs. The boy taught me how to speak their language,and suddenly a fire started.

I shouted at the boy to run! Suddenly I found myself falling Lower!Lower!Lower! When I got home I found a piece of paper that had a message on it that said I'll never forget you. He must have written it before I had fallen down the howl and then he must have thrown it down.

A magical thing once happened to me. I was playing in the beautiful woods when I tripped. I fell deeper, deeper, deeper.

When I woke up I was scared, standing in front of a big, huge building.

A boy was standing beside me. He smiled at me, he had wild hair like me, he had funny things on his eyes and wore trousers and a jumper the same as the other boys. Squeal! Giggle! Chatter! Lots of people everywhere. The boy took my hand and we walked down the road.

We walked into a wide open green space. There was a bit that had things the children were playing on. The boy sat me on a swing and pushed me in the air. My tummy felt funny but it was exciting!

Later on we went to the boys house, we climbed up some funny block things and went into like a cave and there was a place to sleep which was all snuggly and warm just like my animal furs. The boy taught me to read some words. We jumped up and ran down the blocks outside again.

We went to play in the woods, I was happy because it felt like home. The boy showed me men hunting with guns. The bang scared me I ran and fell deeper, deeper, deeper!

When I woke up I was in the woods back home. I was rummaging in my pocket and I felt something, it was the boys toy man!

A surprising adventure happened to me when I was painting in my cave. Then the ground under me shook and I fell lower, lower, lower. When I got up I had a shock because I was in a strange spot.

Suddenly a massive vehicle rushed past and stopped. Screech, yell, bang! People in beautiful colours got out. One walked up to me and grabbed my hand and took me to a place with tall brick walls.

I saw a smart black chair and a tall wooden desk. The boy saw a pile of paper. he Show me how to make paper aeroplanes. We had so much fun!

After lunch me and my friend played a chasing game where one person chases everyone else. Then we went to the woods.

We climbed on the trees. Then the boy took me to another place. It was made of flint and very tall. We went in. I saw a big bell ringing as loud as a jet plane. Then it fell. I screamed at the boy to run but it was too late! I was falling down, down, down.

When I got up I was back in the stone age. I thought it had all been a dream but it can't have been because I found a paper aeroplane in my pocket!

An amazing thing once happened to me. I was wandering in a deep dark wood.

Suddenly I found myself falling deeper, deeper and deeper. When I stopped falling,

I woke up right in front of an old, weird building. I was amazed I thought it was a dream.

Standing in front of me, I saw a little boy, he had a thick coated blue jumper and black shiny new shoes . He did not look like any of the other boys I knew . Pitter patter pitter patter, I looked up and saw water coming out of the sky. This felt cold but refreshing on my face.

The boy took my hand and led me over a grassy field (which was wet on my feet) and then onto the grey concrete.

We walked along the concrete and he showed me how to hop on a hopscotch grid and to play it too.

I was still hopping up and down the hop scotch then I turned my head around and I saw him climbing up a tree. The tree was high and he was very daring to go up that high.

Later that day lots more children appeared. I watched them in amazement as they ran across the field to play games with each other and all I could hear was laughter. Some of the children taught me how to run, hop, skip, jump and to throw a ball into a hoop.

Then unexpectedly we started to move into an old building (It was a bit scary).

Inside the old building I could see children making a colourful structure, like a tall tower.

He showed me how to do a great big puzzle (it was really tricky). In the room a piercing sound was getting louder and louder and everyone started to leave the building.

I shouted run but it was too late, I found myself falling deeper, deeper and deeper again. When I awoke, I was back home again.

Later that day I reached into my trouser pocket, I found a small puzzle piece, a piece that I will treasure forever.

An amazing thing once happened to me, I was strolling towards my enormous cave when I suddenly changed direction. I found myself falling deeper, deeper, deeper. When I woke up I was standing in front of an old building.

All of a sudden I saw a strange person, a boy?! He wore a white shirt, dark grey trousers and his hair was short and tidy.

BRING! RING! DING! A hideous noise made me terrified, the building shook from the screaming sound. The boy held my hand and took me to a big fenced area.

The boy showed me a board with black and white bones on it. We were moving the bone pieces, they call this chess. It was fun!

Later that day, we had a game of football. The boy taught me to hit the ball with my head, this is called a header. We went to play a game of football with the trick the boy had taught me.

During the game I tripped, I could see the green grass, it was like a sea of green. I fell deeper, deeper, deeper.

When I woke up, I was home again. I went in my pocket and found a chess piece!

I was walking in the woods when something in the bushes startled me. I headed in the opposite direction and tripped on a big stone. I found myself falling deeper, deeper, deeper. When I looked up I saw a strange building that I have never ever seen before. It was enormous and made of strange stones.

I saw loads of weird people going into the strange building. Some people were running, and some people were walking. They were carrying weird round orange balls and curvy yellow things. Beep! Beep! Vroom! It was really loud out here so I decided to follow one of the children, a boy who looked friendly and was wearing a blue jumper, into the strange building.

We went inside to a funny-looking enclosed space. It was really busy. Everybody sat down on peculiar blue sitting things. They were holding pointy sticks in all their hands. The boy gave me a strange flat thing. "What is this?" I said. He opened it and showed me lots of weird wiggly things inside it. It was amazing!

Later that morning, the boy took me to a quiet space where there were more flat things with scribbly lines in. He showed me pictures in them of animals I know, like wolves and deer, and other animals that I didn't know.

After lunch, some children went across the big open grassy space to a place that kind of looked like home. I found a log to sit on. The fire was lit and it felt like I was back home, but I knew I wasn't. I saw a slimy creature come out from under the log. It was as slimy as a freshly caught fish. I tried to catch it, but I tripped and found myself falling deeper, deeper, deeper.

When I opened my eyes I was back home. I felt something pointy in my pocket. I grabbed it and pulled it out. It was one of those pointy sticks that all of the children were using!

A surprising thing happened to me once. I was walking towards the twinkling river, when I quickly turned around. That was when I fell further, further, further. When I woke up I was standing in front of an odd looking building.

All of a sudden I saw an unfamiliar person, a girl?! She was wearing a royal blue cardigan, a grey skirt and her hair was long golden brown, tied neatly in ribbons. RING! DING! DONG! Strange noises scared me so much, the noise echoed with unusual BOOMS. The girl gripped my hand and took me inside a room full of peculiar things and strange stones.

Next I saw children running around touching each other, the unfamiliar girl told me it was called tag. The girl took me to the cave drawing on the floor, she taught me a game called hopscotch, we had so much fun together!

Later that morning, the girl wanted to go on the play equipment, she took me to these up and down sticks that she called steps, after that we went to the wooden floor called the bridge.

The girl took me to something called the monkey bars, I could see all the colours like a colourful butterfly. Then something happened, my hands suddenly slipped, I found myself falling further, further, further.

When I woke up, I was at home. I went into my pocket and found a small strange stone. A snap cube?!

A bewildering thing once happened to me ,I was strolling to the big fruit tree, magically changed direction.I found myself falling deeper,deeper,deeper.when I awoke I was standing beside an azure bleu door with paint peeling off.

Suddenly I found someone, a girl? She wore a satin cardigan, a dove grey skirt, a chantilly lace white blouse with puff sleeves on her legs. She had ice white stockings and ink metallic black shoes with heels. CLick! Clack! Click! Clack! I heard a peculiar noise, it made me faint. It was a long pointy thing that grownups used to draw on things. She took me to another place.

On the left side of me there was a humongous grassy space with multi-coloured flowers, she showed me how to pick berries and which ones are poisonous. It was so interesting.

After Lunch, she took me to a peculiar place. Objects made from wood and on it there were children swinging on it acting like they were animals.

On the play equipment I could see the pitch black tyre swings like the pupil of an owl's eye. She taught me how to get to the top of the climbing frame by showing me and then I saw some fruit and climbed up to get it. Suddenly someone screamed and I fell but I got the fruit. I was falling lower, lower, lower.

When I woke up I was in my bed. I had a squishy, nobly thing in my hand. A fruit!

THE STRANGE
Day

By Ida

An amazing thing once happened to me. I was hunting silver glittering fish, when I noticed a hole. I tripped and fell deeper, deeper, deeper. When I landed with a jolt, I was in front of a weird red mountain with lots of people going in and out.

Suddenly I saw a girl walking towards me! She had sand coloured hair and she was wearing a midnight black dress and was smart. Whizz! Whoosh! Dash! Everyone rushed around. I followed the girl to the fresh air space.

In front of me was a hard grey coloured floor. There were millions of people around me, they were running, jumping, shouting and laughing! The girl showed me how to play with a ball. It was hectic! I heard a grown up shouting, what's happening now?

When we were having lunch in the classroom, I felt strange and anxious. It was really loud, all I could hear was chatter, chatter, chatter. I just wanted to get out of there!

The girl took me to the field, the grass was as green as fresh spring leaves in the trees. It was more like home. Suddenly I saw a bird. I ran to chase it then I tripped on a mole hill. I fell deeper, deeper, deeper.

When I bumped onto the ground I was back at home. Then I clasped onto a round smooth thing inside my deerskin bag. It was a ball!
